

Management Tips

Honorary President

The honor of being president for the day encourages good behavior and boosts youngsters' self-esteem! Personalize a colorful construction paper copy of the badge on page 71 for each child in the class. Each day choose one child to wear her badge and act as president of the class. Give the president special duties and privileges, such as leading the line or choosing a story. At the end of the day, recognize the president's accomplishments with a round of applause; then encourage her to wear her badge home.

